A. MODEL TEXT

Read the text below.

How to Borrow Books from the Library

First, visit the library and take a number at the queue machine. Then, go to the registration desk and show your student ID card.

Next, search for the book you need. You can look for it on the shelves or ask the librarian for help.

Then, bring the book to the circulation counter. The librarian will check the book and your student ID.

After that, the librarian will scan the book and give you a due date slip. Make sure to check the return date.

Finally, take good care of the book and return it before the due date. You can renew it if you need more time to read.

By following these steps, you can enjoy reading many books from the library.

B. TEXT ORGANIZATION

Step 1
The first action.
↓
Step 2
The next action.
↓

The next action.
↓
...
↓
Closing Sentence

E. COMMON MISTAKES

Avoid these common mistakes when writing procedures.

Wrong	Why It's Wrong	Correct	Why It's Better
You go to the library.	It uses the subject "you". Imperative sentences do not need a subject.	Go to the fibrary.	Clear and direct instruction.
Then you search the book.	Too informal. Repetition of "you".	Then, search for the book.	More formal and concise.
After that, you must bring the book to the counter.	Mixes connectors and rules. "After that" is not necessary with "then".	Then, bring the book to the counter.	Shorter and clearer.
Finally you return the book.	Missing comma after "Finally".	Finally, return the book.	Punctuation makes it correct.
You should to fill out the form.	Incorrect structure after modal verb.	You should fill out the form.	Correct use of modal verb.

F. WRITING TIP

- Use clear and short sentences.
- Use sequence connectors to show order.
- Use imperative or modal verbs.
- Focus on one action per sentence.
- End with a helpful reminder.

UNIT 4

Expressing Opinions and Agreements

Sharing Ideas in Academic Discussions

UNIVERSITAS PTIQ JAKARTA

A. ACADEMIC WRITING INPUT

We will learn how to write an Opinion Paragraph.

A.1 MODEL TEXT

Should University Students Use AI Responsibly?

In my opinion, university students should use AI responsibly in their learning. First, AI can help students understand complex topics quickly. For example, tools like ChatGPT can explain difficult concepts in simple ways. Second, AI saves time. Students can use it to summarize articles, check grammar, or brainstorm ideas for assignments. However, there are also challenges. Some students may depend too much on AI and stop thinking critically. Moreover, not all information from AI is always accurate. Therefore, students need to verify the information and use AI as a tool, not a replacement for their thinking. In conclusion, AI can be very beneficial if university students use it wisely and responsibly.

TIP: A strong opinion is supported by clear reasons and examples.

A.2 PARAGRAPH ORGANIZATION

An opinion paragraph has a clear structure.

1. Topic Sentence (Thesis)	State your opinion clearly. This sentence tells the reader what you believe.
2. Supporting Reason 1	Give your first reason to support your opinion.
3. Supporting Reason 2	Give your second reason to support your opinion.
4. Example / Evidence	Provide an example, evidence, or explanation to strengthen your reasons.
5. Closing Sentence	Restate your opinion in a different way or give a final comment.

Adding information	in addition, moreover, furthermore, also	Moreover, it can improve students' understanding.
Contrasting ideas	however, but, although, on the other hand	However, some students may depend too much on AI.
Showing result	therefore, thus, as a result, consequently	Therefore, we should use AI responsibly.
Giving example	for example, for instance, such as	For example, ChatGPT can help explain complex topics.
Concluding	in conclusion, to conclude, in summary	In conclusion, AI is a great tool if used wisely.

Read the following model and notice its structure.

How to Improve English Day at PTIQ

English Day is an important program at PTIQ, but many students are not fully interested in participating. There are several ways to improve it. First, we can organize more fun and interactive activities, such as English games, debates, and movie nights. Second, we should promote the program more actively through social media and posters. Third, giving small rewards or certificates to active participants can also increase motivation.

Among these options, I recommend that we organize more interactive activities and promote them widely. This solution will attract more students and make English Day more exciting and meaningful. If we work together, English Day will become a program that everyone looks forward to.

IMPROVING ENGLISH DAY AT PTIQ JAKARTA

A Group Project Report

Introduction
English Day is a program held at PTIQ Jakarta every Thursday to improve students' English communication skills. However, some students are still not active. This project aims to find out how to make English Day more engaging.

Objective
The objective of this project is to identify the challenges of English Day and propose solutions to improve student participation.

Method
We used questionnaires, interviews, and observations. We collected data from 40 students and 5 lecturers. We also observed English Day activities for two weeks.

Findings
The main challenges are lack of interesting activities, limited topics, and low confidence in speaking. Most students suggested more fun activities and speaking practice.

Recommendation
We recommend adding creative activities, varying topics, and giving rewards to active participants. These solutions can make English Day more enjoyable and effective.

Conclusion
English Day can be more successful if it is well-planned and supported by all students and lecturers. With improvements, students will be more confident and active in using English.
